

The Federal Communications Commission

Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

I do not want to pay more for my telephone service! I urge you to reject a flat fee proposal that would change how contributions are made to the Universal Service Fund. I am concerned that this proposal could make my current service unaffordable.

Under the flat fee proposal you are considering, people who make few long distance calls would pay the same as people or businesses that make many calls. In other words, low-volume and primarily residential customers would bear the same universal service fund burden as a high-volume residential or business customers. This is unfair!

I use my wireless phone for safety(I have my 4 children with me in my vehical everywhere I go), security and convenience. I don't want to lose these benefits so that big businesses can pay less than their fair share. I urge you to reject the proposal to move the USF collection system to a flat-fee.

We can barely afford the wireless phone we have now at the rates we pay. If they pass this then we will have to go without wireless service. I may make one or two long distance phone calls on my home phone a month and this would unfair to my family because we would have to pay the saame as others who make alot of long distance calls.

Keep the USF Fair!

Sincerely,

Lana K. Hutto
